CHARLATANS DRAW LARGE AUDIENCE

One-Act Plays of High Order—Thorp, '20, Takes Leading Role

The Charlatans thoroughly maintained their reputation for presenting distinctive college dramatics, by their second commencement performance in the Soper Gymnasium last night, before the largest audience which has ever crowded the gym.

The first play, "The Clod," was an intensely dramatic one-act play of the Civil War period by Lewis Beach. Its plot was woven about the hiding of a northern soldier in the home of a "poor white trash" farmer near the southern border and its setting was an interior scene of a shabby old farm house.

"Pokey," the second play, by the same author as "The Clod", was a very amusing satire on the Pocohontas-Smith affair, and on the American conception of Indian life. It put modern thought and means into the lives of the early Indians and thus produced a clever sort of comedy. The plot concerns the mad love of Pokey for her captured scientist, John Rolfe. Her spontaneity and smothering affection is sharply contrasted to Smith's reserved, retiring manner. The scene was a beautiful outdoor scene on top of a high mountain cliff overlooking the valley.

Thorp, '20, took the leading role in each play and showed great ability in interpreting two characters so opposite as Mary Trask and Pokey. "The Clod" required the simple, dull attitude of an ignorant, selfish backwoods wife, while Pokey was the height of girlish enthusiasm. As Thaddeus Trask, Pierce, '19, interpreted the life of the careless farmer very well, and as the soldiers, Clark, '21, and MacLachlan, '20, kept up a spirited action which gave the play real moving force. Barry, '21, played the part of the wounded northern soldier with excellent, sustained, dramatic skill.

In "Pokey," Mengerink, '20, played the smothered-in-kisses part of John Rolfe, while Martin, '20, as John Smith, nobly upheld the dignity and honor of an Englishman. Griffith, '21, gave the play its chief humor and action in his interpretation of Mrs. Powhatan, and Brandt, '20, as Powhatan, and Pritchett, '21, as the elder Mrs. Powhatan, completed the Indian camp. The braves in the play were Ballot, '21, Stratton, '19, and Gilchrist, '21.

Credit for the success of the performance must be given to Prof. Fancher, who has worked for many weeks coaching the cast and planning the distinctive stage setting. The enlistment of four of the men who took leading parts in the last performance of the Charlatans handicapped the work, but last night's performance was a complete success.

SENIORS TO ADD TWENTY-FOUR TO ALUMNI ROLL

Commencement Parade Will Form Monday Morning at 9:50—Statue to be Unveiled

The procession for the 106th Commencement will form Monday morning at 9:50 in front of Benedict Hall. At ten it will move north along the west side of the quandrangle. The order of the procession will be alumni according to class seniority, the undergraduates of '19, '20, '21, the admitted members of '22, and the graduating class of 1918. At Root Hall of Science the faculty will fall in at the rear and at Truax Hall the trustees will form the rear of the line. The procession will then move northeast, turning down the stone walk leading to Chapel. At this point the unveiling of the statue of Alexander Hamilton presented to the College by Thomas R. Proctor, A.M., a trustee of the college, will take place.

After the ceremony of presentation and unveiling of the statue, a recess of a half-hour will be taken. The academic exercises and conferring of degrees will follow.

At the conclusion of these exercises the divisions of the procession will leave the Chapel in the following order: trustees, faculty, and alumni according to class seniority. The line of march will be down the stone walk past South College and thence to Commons Hall where the alumni luncheon will be served.

The list of guests receiving honorary degrees will not be made known until the ceremony takes place.

The valedictorian of the class of 1918 is Paul D. Hasbrouck of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. The salutatorian is Walter D. Bull of New York City. Since both of these men are at training camps, the valedictory and salutatory will be spoken by Earll H. Clum of Saugerties, and Joseph DeSantis of New York City.

The degrees to be awarded are as follows: A.B., Clinton R. Beach, Kenneth J. Brooks, John H. Bruins, Lewis S. Collins, Joseph DeSantis, Harold S. Dodge, Henry W. Griffith, Paul D. Hasbrouck, Burt D. Hawks, T. Banford Jones, George T. Link, Francis E. Ludlow, Frank G. Moore, David E. Powers, Thomas E. Roberts, James H. Searle, Newell H. Timerman.

SENIORS TELL TALES AT CLASS DAY EXERCISES

Lowell Leads Followers Through Life-like Burlesques for Spectators' Amusement

The Class of 1918 held their Class Day performance in Chapel yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Things began to move when the members of the class, fully attired in their regalia of dignity, came in from back of the organ to the inspiring strains of the "Darktown Strutters' Ball."

Lowell, as Chairman of the occasion, started the ball rolling by pulling Eddie Cantor's old one about the peculiar acoustics of the room, and the consequent necessity of twice as much applause from the audience. The first stunt on the program was a classroom scene from Dr. Davenport's senior course with DeSantis in the title role. Clum, impersonating Beach, gave an excellent speech on Prohibition, comparing an article on that subject in the "Outlook" with Deac's famous sermon. Griffith, understudied by Roberts, was excused because his "New Republic" had failed to come, and the class adjourned.

Germans and '18 Start Row

Collins next appeared as Class Historian. He explained how, in 1914, one Bill Hohenzollern started a quarrel, and how in the same year, the Class of 1918 followed suit. Collins told of the many things which this class found wrong and set about to correct. For one thing, they were afraid the Slimers would get their feet wet, so they kept them off the grass. Prex Stryker had been a faithful prisoner for twenty-five years, so they paroled him. One night Griffith and Lowell ran into a white post between the Gym and the Chapel, so the Class had the fence removed.

Since '18 agreed that the Charlatans were getting rotten, they fired Bill Marsh and put "David Belasco" Fancher in his place. Then Burt Hawks decided that the class ought to economize, so he started a movement for the abolishment of Clark Prize, and put the thing through, thereby saving a lot of electricity and a little work.

In closing, Collins warned the students to do just as the Faculty told them. If they want knitting parties and pink teas instead of class rows, abolish the rows. As his last word, the Historian said that he wished to correct an erroneous report which had been circulating around the Campus to the effect that Searle had not paid any debts since he had been in College. Brooks had let the cat out of the bag by announcing the other day that Jim paid for a deck of "Fat's" which he bought Freshman year.

The Class Poet, Ludlow, then read his ideas on the individual members of the class. He described them in free verse as representing different ani-

Alumni—1918

Hamilton's second war-time Commencement sees the number of men leaving the Hill, the smallest in recent years. Farewell to Alma Mater means a great deal to the graduating class this year. Most of the men are leaving the campus to prepare themselves to enter some branch of the country's soldiery, where already more than fifty per cent. of their number have preceded them.

The men of 1918 have given their all to Hamilton during their four years of student life. Wherever they go from here, they will continue to give their all to the duty at hand. To the men of 1918 already in their country's service, and who are denied the opportunity of graduating with their classmates, we pay a special tribute. Their spirit of sacrifice is worthy of tribute. The number of students here has fallen and may continue to fall during the period of the war, but the name of Hamilton will rise by the work of sacrifice of these loyal Hamilton sons.

Paint Night Passes

The recent action of the upperclasses in voting to abolish "Paint Night" in the fall, marks the passing of one of the most important class rows. This was strictly a war measure, taken to assist with the work of securing every possible sub-freshman for Hamilton.

The undergraduates hated to see paint night go, as it was a 'starter' for that underclassman spirit and rivalry so necessary for strong undergraduate life. The fact that the movement for its abolition received unanimous upperclassman approval, shows that the student body stands ready to back any proposition which will further the best interests of the College. In this case this means a registration as nearly normal as possible.

While paint night may not have been any great harm in itself, it had several attendant results which were not so negligible. First among these stands the loss of a considerable number of men who have gone to other colleges through parental objection to this kind of class competition. This has been especially true with men living comparatively near the College. There is also the everpresent chance of physical injury bringing the College a black eye, as paint night is not a legitimate sport.

The Trustees and faculty were strongly against it. A large number of the alumni approached on the subject, could find nothing to commend it. Its passing marks another step toward the substitution of legitimate sport for all kinds of class competition which can be classed under the general head of hazing.

NEW LOCAL FRATERNITY ORGANIZED AS BETA KAPPA

New Society to Take its Place in Fall With Twenty-seven Men

A new local fraternity has been organized on the Hill to be known as the Beta Kappa Society. This announcement will come as a surprise to many who are interested in the college since no lasting local or national fraternities have been organized since the formation of the Emerson Literary Society in 1882. An organization known as Psi Delta Tau was formed about ten years ago but existed for only a short time.

The new organization will start next fall with twenty-seven men. Plans have been worked out in quite some detail by its members and other interested parties, and it is expected that by the beginning of college activities next fall the new crowd will be prepared to take its place with the other fraternities on the Hill.

The men who are forming the new society are as follows:

From 1918: Brooks, Bruins, DeSantis, Hawks, Insley, Kingston, Moore, Powers, Roberts and Searle.

From 1919: Bratton and Spinning.

From 1920: Atwood, Brown, Burke, Covey, Foss, Gorman, Jewett, Morton, A. R. Thompson and Wright.

From 1921: Bartlett, Campbell, Clay, Davison, Decker, Durkee, Flynn, Hart, King, McKenzie, McVay, Mathewson, Pierce, Throop and Wettel.

DEAN HODGES TO PREACH

The Baccalaureate sermon will be given tomorrow afternoon at 4 p. m. by Dean George Hodges, '77, of the Episcopal Theological Seminary of Cambridge, Mass.

Spice o' Life

Brandt says that before he took Military Training this year, he was undecided whether to enlist in the Army or the Navy, but now he knows.

Rumor has it that there were four track records broken Friday afternoon in the Slimers' Paddle Day—the 100, the 220, the Running Broad, and the High Hurdles.

Here's one that a well-known comedian of the class of '20 has been perpetrating about the campus. The dialogue is between two very deaf men, one of whom has a fishing rod over his shoulder.

"What-jur-doin'? Goin' fishin'?"

"Naw. Goin' fishin'."

"Oh, I thought you were goin' fishin'."

Go on and laugh. We don't care.

If you want more Spice, get out the old Life file and look over some back numbers.

FURSMAN AND REED, '19, TO LEAD TEAMS NEXT YEAR

Nine Men Awarded H in Baseball—Twelve Wear Track Letter

James S. Fursman, '19, of Hudson Falls, N. Y., has been elected captain of the baseball team for the 1919 season. Fursman was on the squad his first two years in college, and this year played consistent ball at shortstop and second base. He was also one of the hardest hitters on the team. Unless conditions change materially, Fursman will have a good start for next year, Cavanagh and Powers being the only men lost through graduation.

The following men were awarded the baseball H: 1918, Cavanagh, capt., Powers; 1919, Fursman; 1920, Gorman, Baumler, Johnson; 1921, Lawler, Campbell, Pritchard.

At a meeting of the track team on June 1, Harold H. Reed, '19, of Lyndhurst, N. J., was elected captain for next year. Reed is a dash man, and the highest point winner on the team this season. He was on the team his freshman year, but was kept out of all meets by a pulled tendon. The present outlook for next year is good, with ten letter men as a nucleus about which to build up a team.

The following men have been awarded the track H: 1918, Moore, capt., Insley; 1919, Perkins, Reed, Valentine; 1920, Bolenius, Couper, Kneeland, McLachaln, Rice; 1921, Lawler, MacWilliams.

BATTALION OFFICERS DINE

The officers of the College Battalion were the guests of Professor Carruth at dinner a week ago Wednesday night. All the men were present with the exception of Collins, '18.

Last Tuesday night the officers gave a banquet at the Hotel Utica at which Fursman, '18, Major of the College Battalion, was the guest of honor. Collins, '18, Ferguson, Miller, Stone, and White, '19, and Clarke and Martin, '20, were present.

ARTS DEGREE WITHOUT GREEK, TRUSTEES RULE

One Ancient Language for A.B.—Modern Languages for B. S.

An impressive speech was delivered to the trustees at their meeting yesterday afternoon by Elihu Root in appreciation of the gift by Thomas R. Proctor of the statue of Alexander Hamilton.

Senator Root spoke at some length of Mr. Proctor's interest in, and devotion to the college. The trustees arose at the conclusion of his words to give Mr. Proctor a vote of appreciation.

Mr. Charles B. Rogers, the treasurer, reported a deficit this year of $29,534.91; this is the greatest excess of expenditures since 1915, when the deficit amounted to $8,926.05.

The motion to give the degree of A.B. for one ancient and one modern language in freshman year was carried 16 to 4. Two modern languages in freshman year will be required for B.S.

A vote of thanks was given Dr. F. W. Putnam of Binghamton who has given the college a collection of valuable autograph letters and certain interesting historical and biographical facts from every alumnus.

Rev. L. G. Colson was re-elected a trustee for a seven year term. Prof. Durham of Princeton University was appointed assistant professor of Greek and Latin.

By the will of Ida McCall of Galesburg, Ill., the college receives $1,000. The children of the late David Holbrook presented to the college a bond of $1,000. J. P. Underwood has given the college a bond for $10,000 of which $2,500 is to go to the Theodore M. Pomeroy fund.

mals and flowers, and said that while individually they were very ugly, collectively they blended in together like the instruments in a Jazz Band.

Profs Examined for Service

At this point, Chairman Lowell acknowledged receipt of a telegram from Hadley Smith, a member of '18 whose absence was necessitated by the war. Roberts, as Chairman of the Medical "Devisory" Board for the Clinton Home Defense, then conducted an examination of Bill Shep, Percy Flip, Bill Squires, Rip Hastings, and Prex. The best laugh of the afternoon was furnished when Roberts asked Bill Squires, alias Lowell, if he had no other clothes than the ones he had on. When Flippin was asked if he wanted to join the Navy, he inquired if the Examiner had ever heard of a Southerner who could fight on water. Cal. Lewis was accepted as a "Sanitary Corpse."

Hawks, acting in his official capacity of Class Prophet, made a few cursory remarks on the personnel of the class. He could account for every member in 1947, except Cavanagh and Van Auken. He expected to find out where these men were from Wicks and Greenman.

MANY OFFICES FILLED AT SPRING ELECTIONS

Ferguson, Perkins, '19, Sicard, '06, Elected to Executive Council —Large Balance in Treasury

More than the usual number of men were elected to offices at the annual pre-commencement college meeting held in Commons Monday night, May 27, due to the necessity of electing both manager and assistant manager in some cases.

Leonard C. Ferguson, '19, of Hammond, and R. Roy Perkins, '19, of Ogdensburg, were elected to the executive council to fill places left vacant by the enlistment of Keeler, '19, and Morrow, '19. Walter J. Keane, '20, of Binghamton, was elected manager of baseball, and Thomas B. Rudd, '21, of Clinton, assistant manager. Ralph E. Atwood, '20, of Endicott, was elected to succeed himself as manager of track, and Robert I. Williams, '21, of Ossining, was elected assistant manager.

At this point a motion was made and carried that in cases where two men were to be elected from the same class, the first should be manager for the ensuing year and the second, associate manager, instead of assistant manager, and that the following year the acting manager should be elected from these two.

In accordance with this ruling Harmon B. Kneeland, '20, of Binghamton, was elected manager of musical clubs, and Howard C. Allen, '20, of Johnstown, associate manager. Richard W. Kaiser, '20, of New Rochelle, was elected manager of Charlatans, and Claude H. Thompson, '20, of Binghamton, associate manager. J. Frederick Neff, '20, of Niagara Falls, was elected manager of Intramural Sports, and Richard H. Ritterbusch, '20, of Dunnellen, N. J., associate manager. After a qualifying exhibition by the nominees, James S. Fursman, '19, of Hudson Falls, and Rushmore R. Valentine, '19, of Patchogue, were chosen cheerleaders. The men nominated and elected to the Honor Court were John W. Bratton, '19, of Brooklyn, Harold H. Reed, '19, of Lyndhurst, N. J., Edgar W. Couper, '20, of Binghamton, H. Willard Johnson, '20, of Clinton, Ill., and W. Arthur Campbell, '21, of Binghamton.

Prof. Flippin reported a balance in the treasury of about $1900.

Trophies were presented to the D. U.'s for winning the indoor athletic contest for three consecutive years, and the 1917-18 inter-fraternity basketball series.

George H. Sicard, '06, of Utica, was elected alumni member of the executive council for the remainder of the year to fill the vacancy caused by the enlistment of Mr. George B. Ogden, '14.

Coach Prettyman responded to the calls for "speech" with a few words of commendation on the spirit of the college in athletics during the year. He praised the work of the teams and the spirit of the managers and ass. managers, and said he believed that the interest shown in athletics justified the construction of the new athletic field.

In conclusion Dr. Wood paid respect to the men who have gone into service during the year, and commended the steadfastness of the men who have stayed in college in spite of all enthusiasm for enlisting.

The annual McKinney Prize Declamation contest was held in the College Chapel, Thursday afternoon at four o'clock. The prize-winners were: from the class of 1919, Harold Harper Reed, first, and James Sherrill Fursman, second; from the class of 1920, Harmon Willard Johnson, first, and Walter John Keane, second; from the class of 1921, Walter Howard Parker, first, and Franklin Clark Fry, second.

The speaking was all excellent and the judges found it difficult to select the winners.. Thorp, '20, furnished music on the organ during the intervals.
